Trustees Consider Important Affairs

All the trustees, the city clerk, the city attorney, the city engineer, the chairman of the city planning commission and a large number of property-owners were present at the adjourned meeting of the city trustees last Tuesday night.

The general interest in this meeting was brought about by the announced intention to consider the proposed municipal zoning ordinance, read for the first time at the regular monthly meeting on January 2.

The first business taken up, however, was the much discussed and slightly amended business license ordinance, a long and wearisome document, from some of the provisions of which the "gallery" derived amusement. Trustee Newberry again opposed the ordinance in its entirety, but first reading was completed when [illegible] cluding artists from the payment of a license was adopted.

A satisfactory solution of the perplexing sewer problem seems to have been arrived at. On the recommendation of City Engineer H. D. Severance it was agreed that the first unit of the sewer system embrace a district bounded on the north by Ocean avenue, on the south by Santa Lucia, on the east by San Carlos, and on the west by San Antonio.

A resololution of intention to proceed with the work along these lines was adopted. Trustee T. B. Reardon announced that he would vote for this plan only with the understanding that sewering of District No. 2, north of Ocean avenue, be proceeded with when work on District 1 is completed. This was agreed to.

Preceding reading of the zoning ordinance, former trustee George M. Dorwart arose to announce that certain property owned by him, and which is placed in the residential zone, is hotel and apartment house property.

On motion of Trustee Newberry the ordinance was amended so as to put into the business zone Blocks 58, 69, 78 and 89. Included in these blocks is the property of Miss S. E. Chandler on Ocean avenue and on Junipero street.

No change was made in the status of the 25-foot lots in Blocks 27, 36, 49, 98, 109, 118 and 120. Inasmuch as the ordinance provides that no structure may be erected on a 25-foot lot, another complication is apparent.

Second and final reading of the ordinance is contemplated at an adjourned meeting to be be held next Tuesday night.

A Carmel Venture

(From the Berkeley Courier)

A summer school for the development of the art of acting is being talked of in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Mr. Edward G. Kuster announces that such a movement is to be inaugurated in the artists' colony for the summer and that the new Theatre of the Golden Bough is to be its home.

Where interest is so rife in things dramatic, such a venture should prove a success if the faculty is comprised of those who really know their business, which necessarily embodies the art of acting.

Carmel has had some very excellent dramatic productions to its credit—but it also has had performances which would have been greatly improved if those who participated had had some real idea of what is expected of the true followers of Thespius.

Two screen pictures recently shown here contained color sequences, showing the work of George E. Stone, the Carmel Highlands photographer.

Two Estimates of Newberry Production of "Wild Oats"

By Susan C. Porter

At the end of "Wild Oats" at the Arts and Crafts Saturday night, an audience weak and sore from laughing was still strong enough to demand a speech from the author and to continue shouting until Mr. Newberry appeared in overalls and spoke in a few earnest sentences of his gratitude to his cast. More applause brought out the entire company to take a curtain call, and sent them off at last to the supper party John Jordan had so kindly prepared [illegible] well done and well received.

Rarely has a Carmel audience shown such full and joyous approbation. But who could remain stolid in face of anything so completely funny! From Jack Flanner's first punch at Frank Berkey till Daisy Bostick hurled her coffee cup, the audience [illegible] say his farce is "just for fun," but there was a lot of adroit handling in that same fun. The various threads of action were skillfully tangled and disentangled, the lines were often extraordinarily witty, and the burlesque of typical melodramatic situations—the disguises, the mistaken identities, the closet door with a betraying cap left on the floor outside, the final scene, all grouped for a conventional happy ending and all suddenly smashed—yes, a lot of hard thinking went to the structure of this funny play.

The cast showed the good result of hard work and careful rehearsal. They played together, listened to each other, showed interest in what was happening, got into their parts, especially on Saturday night with the stimulus of a responsive audience. One would criticise only occasional careless enunciation or failure to send the voice out towards the audience so that lines were sometimes lost.

Make-up and costumes were good. Daisy Bostick in a severe high collar and black glasses to hide the twinkle in her eye ceased entirely to be the friendly soul we hail on Ocean avenue and played the part of a termagant very convincingly. Frances Glassell's clear enunciation as Mary was pleasant to the ear and her slim, wistful, Japanesque figure in the second act a joy to the eye. Georgia-Sally White brought fresh spontaneous girlishness to the part of Lorinne; Tilly Polak showed dainty malice as Louise, and Helen Judson's every moment on the stage as Alice was a triumph.

The men in the cast all played with earnestness and apparent enjoyment. Andrew Jacobson in excellent costume and make-up did good, honest work as the unhappy Vardon-Jones, some of his uneasy gestures being particularly successful. This is Mr. Jacobson's second appearance at Arts and Crafts, and we shall look forward to his next appearance, for he is going steadily ahead. Jack Flanner carried with grace and spirit a part that did not suit him particularly well. A certain mysterious and shadowy quality in his voice, revealed only in his fainting speech at the end of the second act, makes us want to hear him in a less prosaic part.

Charles Berkey did good characterization as the prize-fight promoter who was such a tongue-tied lover, and Frank Berkey was a very satisfying tough. James Malloy, who played the village constable—by mistake listed on the programs as Richard Hoagland—made a sensation with his wonderful height and wonderful costume in each of his brief appearances.

As for Elsie Lindsay—no words would satisfy those who saw Arthur Cyril, and no words could convey to those who did not the sheer funniness of his performance. Nor its dramatic quality—his poses, poise and profil, the serene largeness of his gestures, the ineffable gravity of his ineffable silliness. It is hard for any of those who rocked in their chairs Saturday night to imagine any one else in the part.

The Arts and Crafts Club are greatly pleased that on their stage two hours of such complete enjoyment were offered, and they are deeply grateful to Mr. Newberry for providing it and for the extreme generosity he has shown. For not only did he put it on with his own hard work, building up the scenes with the absolute minimum of expense and artfully billing it in a way that piqued public curiosity, but he has waived his royalties and turned intact into the coffers of the Club a sum for which they wish publicly to thank him.

By the Editor

Oldtimers who turned out to witness Perry Newberry's "Wild Oats" last Friday and Saturday nights quite readily identified a former comedy by the same author. "Burn It" was the title of it; it wasn't much. But judging from the satisfactory manner in which "Wild Oats" was received, especially on the second night, the re-write is a great improvement.

As was to be expected, the big noise of the comedy was Arthur Cyril, who played Mrs. Clara Forbes a very good [illegible] ern Mrs. Malaprop. Not only did he act well and enunciate well, but his make-up and attire left nothing to be desired.

Only words of praise are due Daisy Bostick for her interpretation of the character assigned her. If ever there [illegible] Bostick was it. Mary Roberts Rinehart herself would have endorsed her.

Georgia Sally White, who essayed the role of a romantic love-sick young woman, and who probably had more lines than any one else in the cast, was quite convincing. She always does conscientious and well-studied work.

Frances Glassell, who played the dignified daughter of a once famous mother, was just her natural self. We can imagine her doing the shooting scene in the second act exactly the same way, should occasion arise, in her own home. And there was no suggestion of the modern flapper in her work.

Tilly Polak and Helen Judson were a wonderful contrast in maids. The one alert, smart, intriguing; the other slow, untidy and menial.

Charles Berkey was not well cast. Not near so well as in "Doubling in Brass." He's too refined for a prize-fight promoter. When we think of a prize-fight promoter, Cooke, who plays that role in "Fighting Blood" on the screen, comes to mind. The part needs a "rough-neck."

What a fine target for one who could really box, Jack Flanner and Frank Berkey would make. They may be actors, but as exponents of the manly art of self-defense they are not there. Otherwise they filled in very well.

Andrew Jacobson is young yet. Too young for an old man's part. We would like to see him as the plumber in "The Servant in the House."

After all, it was "just for fun."

At the conclusion of the performance on Saturday, repeated calls of "Author, author," brought Perry Newberry before the footlights. As usual he "passed the buck," placing the blame of the whole thing upon the cast.

Would Enlarge Hotel Zone

A petition to the city board of trustees is in circulation asking that Block 78 be included in the hotel and apartment house district of the proposed zoning ordinance.

St. Anne's Guild Tea

There will be a social tea for the benefit of St Anne's Guild at the home of Mrs. Paul A. Prince on 11th avenue, Casa Nova and Camino Real, next Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6 p. m.

First Informal is Successful Affair

Dr. Alfred E. Burton's talk on "Tramps Through Unknown Switzerland" at Arts and Crafts last Monday night was yet another of the surprises that extraordinary man has for his friends and admirers. A charming and gently humorous talk about his wandering on Alpine paths thirty years ago, we were prepared for, but the "personal sketches" he had modestly referred to proved, as shown through Mr. Beardsley's lantern, to be such fine, firm and spirited work as to make all the artists present sit up straight in their chairs and rush for [illegible] when the talk was over.

Fifty people sat at their ease in the well-arranged hall and listened with real enjoyment to his account of his discovery of the little old town of Gruyeres and to Mrs. Woodward's tender playing of Debussey's "Clair de Lune" which closed the evening's program. An easy and pleasant gathering it was, with the friendliest atmosphere, and an excellent beginning of the winter's entertainment as blocked out by the entertainment committee. The members responded nobly to the committee's request for china and they drank delicious chocolate with perhaps a little extra glow of enjoyment which came from the sense of co-operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Sideneck had most generously given their time, taste and actual labor to the decoration of the hall and achieved a warm and welcoming effect. The seats were broken into friendly groups, Oriental rugs and jars of berried branches gave color and a homelike look, and the walls were hung with carefully chosen pictures, a large canvas of Mr. Sideneck showing fishing boats in Monterey bay appearing to special advantage.

The committee plans to invite the artists-members individually to hang specimens of their work on the club walls for the monthly meetings, to be in the nature of a one-man exhibit, as you might say. Thus the new members will become familiar with the work of our local artists, and a varied charm will be given to the club room.

The chair committee reports that $700 has been collected and $50 more pledged, making a total of $750, securing the 250 chairs which were our goal.

---

Action was taken at the last directors' meeting whereby no tradesperson is expected to honor any order from Arts and Crafts unless such an order is signed by Arthur Cyril.

---

We remind you of the entertainment so kindly offered us by John B. Jordan on the evening of February 9. Fuller particulars about Frederick Warde, the distinguished Shakespearian actor we are to hear, will be given later.

Local Bank Directors Hold Annual Meeting

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of The Bank of Carmel was held last Tuesday evening. All of the old directors were re elected, as follows: T. A. Work, C. O. Goold, C. A. Metz, Silas W. Mack and J. A. Sparolini.

The officers are as follows: T. A. Work, president; C. O. Goold, vice-president; Barnet J. Segal, cashier; Charles Berkey, assistant cashier. The two last named were promoted to their present positions.

The directors are very well satisfied with the progress the bank has made, the last statement of the bank's business being especially gratifying.

PINE NEEDLES

A letter received from John Kenneth Turner announces that he and his wife are now sojourning in Los Angeles.

George L. Wilstach, an artist, of Lafayette, Indiana, is here for several months. He is occupying the Elizabeth Strong studio.

In the display room of the Hotel Fairmont in San Francisco next week several of Mrs. Roberta Thudichum's paintings are to be exhibited.

An interesting and varied program was arranged by Constance Bruhl for the pianoforte recital by her pupils last evening at her studio in Pacific Grove. Mrs. Bruhl is about to open a studio here.

Miss Alice Gale is a guest of Mrs. Sydney Yard for a few weeks. Miss Gale is a former Carmelite and now holds a responsible position with the government in San Francisco. She recently suffered a nervous breakdown, and is here to recuperate.

We are [illegible] to have here a first-class cleaning, dyeing and pressing establishment. William C. Farley of Pacific Grove has taken an Ocean avenue store for that purpose and modern equipment is now on the way. With his wife and daughter Mr. Farley will make his home here.

The work of Jo Mora, sculptor, and George Sterling, poet, are pictured and printed in a recent A. M. Robertson publication. Accompanying a fine drawing of Mora's tablet, "In Memorium Bret Harte," is Sterling's poem, "Art and Life."

STRENGTH
STABILITY

It takes a strong man to heave a windlass and pull up an anchor after a storm—a strong man.

It takes a strong bank, to weather all kinds of business conditions and sail serenely on, growing stronger and stronger as the years go by with more power for the upbuilding of the community it covers. So much for strength.

STABILITY is another word and more comprehensive as applied to the banking business. It means co-operation with the bank's clientelle. It means public confidence well placed. It means confidence in the bank as an institution, confidence in its officers and employees; in a word, a feeling of dependability must exist that a bank may function to the best advantage of a community.

Vast Resources

Resources of over thirteen million dollars guarantee Monterey Peninsula people the maximum of banking accommodations.

Local Officers

The same officers with which you have done your banking for so many years still serve you. And the same courteous service still prevails.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC SPENDING $90,000,000 TO SERVE WEST

A COMPREHENSIVE and impressive program for construction work, new facilities and improvements generally to maintain adequate transportation service for Pacific Coast states has been launched by the Southern Pacific company, it was announced here today.

Expenditures totaling in excess of $50,000,000 are involved in the improvement program, which is to be carried into effect as rapidly as possible.

This program is in addition to the recent purchase by the Southern Pacific company of a record number of freight and passenger cars, refrigerator cars and powerful locomotives at a cost aggregating $40,000,000.

The announcement calling for renewed activity throughout the territory served by the railroad follows close upon the heels of the decision of government officials at Washington to accept the United States court decision affirming the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific merger.

LET THE PEOPLE VOTE ON THE MATTER

The people of Carmel who object to the whole or any part of the proposed city zoning ordinance now before the board of trustees, have, under the laws of this state, an adequate and conclusive agency to bring before all the voters of the community the entire matter for decision.

The referendum statute is designed to meet just such matters as now confront the local property owners. Many feel that certain provisions in the proposed ordinance are impracticable and unjust.

There are two ways by which this matter may be presented for decision by a majority vote. One, on petition of ten per cent of the electors, would ask for a "yes" or "no" on the proposition as a whole. The other, requiring a fifteen per cent petition, permits a vote on an entirely new ordinance.

We believe that the trustees and the planning commission will welcome this [illegible] deciding the matter [illegible] the Pine Cone proposes that the question be put to a vote either in a special election or in conjunction with the regular municipal election.

FAKE STORIES PLACE US IN FALSE LIGHT

The last refuge of esthetic souls in California who, like Dame Nature, improved by man, is rallying beneath the blight of commercialism. This is Carmel-by-the-Sea, where once musicians, artists and writers foregathered and enjoyed its freedom from conventional restriction and modern [illegible]

There are those who can see no beauty in shower baths and cement sidewalks. The aim of the permanent residents was to live as our forefathers did. Waterworks were considered unnecessary; the futurist poet could emulate Rebecca at the well and drag in her own bath water and drinking supply. Streets were to remain unpaved, slopes ungraded, and some brave souls have even essayed to compose their great masterpieces by candlelight. Hard on the eyes, but soothing to the soul.—Los Angeles Times.

Onward swept, ever moving from [illegible] place to place the [illegible] tate dealers and nature spoilers, the artist is like the man without a country. It is the controversy of man made versus natural beauty.

[illegible] Carmel-by-the-Sea, the artist and the layman are in a complex controversy. The layman wants incorporation, without which civic improvements cannot be made. The artist does not want incorporation, lights, sewers and the mob of settlers and sightseers which follow in their trail.

The county is now stepping in and says: "Your community is unsanitary and if you do not install a sewer system we will enforce the law and serve warrants for every property owner in Laguna."—For Art's Sake.

Both of the foregoing articles, printed by reputable journals, show the evil influence of some of the stuff sent out of Carmel as news by unscrupulous correspondents.

It is true, we have our problems and controversies—just as other communities have theirs—but the implications that Carmelites are continually at loggerheads and fighting among themselves is not true.

There is no exodus of artists and art lovers. And the commercial element has no desire to infringe upon the artists' preserves.

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

PROPOSES

1. That the United States shall immediately enter the Permanent Court of International Justice, under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.
2. That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States shall offer to extend its present cooperation with the League and participate in the work of the League as a body of mutual counsel under conditions which
   1. Substitute moral force and public opinion for the military and economic force originally implied in Articles X and XVI.
   2. Safeguard the Monroe Doctrine.
   3. Accept the fact that the United States will assume no obligations under the Treaty of Versailles except by Act of Congress.
   4. Propose that membership in the League should be opened to all nations.
   5. Provide for the continuing development of international law.

Zane Gray in the Lead

"What books are the people reading these holidays?" was asked Stella Huntington, county librarian of Santa Clara County.

"Now let me think," reflected Miss Huntington. "The three non-fiction books that we have the most call for are Walter Page's 'Lefters,' Dr. Jordan's book, 'The Days of a Man,' and Kate Douglas Wiggins' 'May Garden of Memory.'"

Among the fiction books Miss Huntington said the library still had numerous calls for Gertrude Atherton's "Black Oxen" and "The Covered Wagon."

"It is a [illegible] Gray has," concluded the librarian. "Gray has a new book coming out called 'The Call of the Canyon'—sounds like Jack London, doesn't it—and we are already receiving calls for it. Of the so-called popular writers, Zane Gray easily leads, I guess."

The Luther Statue in Washington

The statue is a replica of the central figure of the Luther memorial, or Reformation group, at the Worms, Germany. It was cast from the same mould which was used for the original and at the same foundry of Lauchhammer, in Saxony. It weighs 3000 pounds and is 11½ feet in height. The sculptor of the original group was Reitschel.

The pedestal was designed by A. H. Jouvenal. It is made of Maryland granite and is 15 feet high. The cost of the pedestal was $3000. In the pedestal, at the time of the dedication, was deposited a Bible, Hootlin's Life of Luther, Luther's Smaller Catechism, the Lutheran Almanac of 1884, a United States Blue Book, Lutheran and city newspapers, a history of the statue and names of the subscribers to the fund.

The statue was erected by the Luther Statue association in commemoration of the 400th anniversary of his birth—November 10, 1483. The funds, amounting to $5000, were contributed by the Lutherans and other Protestant denominations of Washington and elsewhere.

"Do Rats Talk to Each Other?" Asks Mr. M. Batty, R. I.

"I got five cakes of Rat-Snap and threw pieces around feed store. Got about half a dozen dead rats a day for two solid weeks. Suddenly, they got fewer. Now we haven't any. Who told them about Rat-Snap?" Rats dry up and leave no smell. Three sizes: 35c, 65c, $1.25.

It's a Question of Quality

The Theatre Guild denies that it has been more friendly to foreign, rather than to American dramatists. It states very definitely that such is not the case and that its doors are always on the latch for the entrance of new American plays of sincerity and quality.

Some months ago, when criticism was rife, an article appeared in this paper, among others, giving a list of thirty plays that had been presented by the Theatre Guild since its premiere offering and of those thirty plays only five were the product of our national dramatists.

The Theatre Guild of New York being the nearest approach [illegible] theatre that America possesses, it struck the writer that the presentation of only five plays by American authors out of a total of thirty was rather a startling though silent declamation of inferiority of our native dramatists.

Notes

A prize of $25,000 for a name for a new weekly magazine to be published by interests controlling the Chicago Tribune and the New York Daily News has been announced. The new publication will appear about May 1. Competition for prizes of $20,000, $4000 and $1000 for the three best suited names is open to the public, the publishers state.

Edmund Russell, father of Sigurd Russell of Laguna and Los Angeles, died in New York, January 1. Mr. Russell died very suddenly after a severe nervous collapse. He has lectured on the various phases of the art question for more than fifty years. He was renowned as a portrait painter; an authority on the literature and art of India and the Orient; and as an actor of Shakespearian roles he was famous. He was recently in Los Angeles, where he lectured at the Gamut Theatre and he was entertained by a number of art and literary groups.

The New York Evening Post was sold last month to Cyrus H. K. Curtis, owner of the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal, Country Gentleman and the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The consideration fell short of two million dollars by a scant margin. The Post is one of the oldest newspapers in the country which has continued under its own name, having been founded in 1801 by Alexander Hamilton as a Federalist organ. Many famous men worked on the Post in its time, among them being William Cullen Bryant, the poet.

Real Clothing Sale

1-3 to 1-4 Off

On All Men's and Young Men's Suits, Overcoats and Cravenettes

Sale Ends Saturday, January 26

Listen and You Will Be a Winner:

Good clothes are an investment. For years our exclusive high grade clothes shop has prospered through the patronage of well-dressed men. Day by day has added to our clientele of customers and business friends. The reputation thus earned we would not sacrifice under any conditions. But we are going to sacrifice our entire stock of men's and young men's suits, overcoats and cravenettes, representing the cream of America's foremost clothes makers. A backward season, due to unfavorable weather conditions, finds us way overstocked, and we have already contracted with our manufacturers and placed large orders for spring deliveries. These conditions must be faced; every garment in our house must be turned into cash. Therefore we present you with an offering of clothes-value-giving which we claim defies comparison.

Suits and Overcoats $39.00—Sale Price $29.25

Red Cross First Aid Standards Adopted In Great Industries

First aid in an emergency which assures the injured competent attention marked headway through the work of the Chapters of the American Red Cross. In populous centers 814 chapters conduct first aid classes and last year awarded 9,500 certificates to students. Eight big telephone companies have enlisted their workers in first aid [illegible], police and fire departments in large cities are making the course compulsory in their training schools, and through colleges and high schools large groups of students receive instruction. The Red Cross has given this course through Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y. M. C. A. and similar organizations, and its standard methods have been adopted by railroads, electric and gas companies, mines and in the metal industries. The aim of this Red Cross service is to cut down radically the average of 60,000 accidental deaths per year in the United States.

Secretary's Report Shows Progress

Full justification for continuing the activities of the local chamber of commerce may be found in the following annual report of Secretary Peter Mawdsley:

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Receipts

| | |
|---|---|
| Dues collected during the year | $185.00 |

Expenditure

| | |
|---|---|
| Stationery and Printing | 31.60 |
| Rents | 24.65 |
| Secretary's Salary | 60.00 |
| Entertainment of Advertising Association Delegates | 15.00 |
| Postages | 10.76 |
| Office Expense | .75 |
| Total | $142.76 |
| Balance in Bank, Dec. 31, 1923 | 42.24 |
| Total | $185.00 |

The following matters, among others, have been dealt with by the [illegible] during the year:

1. Local street improvement district—East to west streets between Ocean avenue and Santa Lucia avenue.
2. Business licenses.
3. Regular repair and cleaning of streets, parking places, etc.
4. [illegible] on Ocean avenue.
5. Local post office service.
6. Forest Theatre annual play.
7. Monterey Peninsula Communities Incorporated.
8. Grant from County Advertising fund.
9. Advertising signs on highways.
10. Publicity literature.
11. Securing conventions for peninsula.
12. Membership and attendance at meetings.
13. Completion of coast highway.

Considerable correspondence has been received and sent during the year. The following brief summary is submitted:

1. Letters to City Trustees, relating to business licenses; street improvement district, and street repair and cleaning.
2. Letters to Board of Supervisors, relating to grant from county advertising fund; proposed new road from Carmel to Pacific Grove, and advertising signs on highways.
3. Letter notifying appointment of delegates to coast highway hearing in San Francisco.
4. Invitation to hold conventions on Monterey Peninsula, sent to American Legion; B. P. O. Elks; League of Municipalities; Teachers Institute; Public Librarians Association.
5. Letters and lists received from Californians Incorporated, dealing with inquiries as to homes, living conditions, climate, business opportunities, etc., and requests for schedules of information, photographs, etc. ..... 14
6. Letters from California Development Association, relating to schedules of information, advertising and publicity plans and miscellaneous matters, 13.
7. Letters from Monterey Peninsula Communities Incorporated with lists of inquiries as to homes, living conditions, climate, etc. ..... 7
8. Letters from other Chambers of Commerce, relating to the collecting of general information; co-operation in publicity work, etc. ..... 15
9. Letters from inquirers direct, as to homes, climate, living conditions, etc. ..... 30
10. Miscellaneous letters written, not included above ..... 10
11. Circulars received and dealt with, relating to business and trade development, travel tours, etc. ..... 11

Almost the whole of this correspondence has arisen within the last six months, and there is every reason to believe that the coming year will see a very large increase in the number of inquiries as to homes, living conditions, etc. The activities of Californians Incorporated, the Monterey Peninsula Communities Incorporated and others are bringing, almost daily, more of such inquiries, and Carmel may expect to get increased numbers of visitors and new residents to the extent to which she goes out after them.

To do this it is necessary to have an organization which shall be able to co-operate with these other organizations, and which can, at the same time, deal with any matters pertaining to the welfare and development of the town. Your present organization, the Chamber of Commerce, can do this; but, in view of the apparent lack of interest now shown, it would appear desirable that some effort should be made, on the part of everybody, for the strengthening of the existing organization. With live interest, active co-operation, and attendance at meetings, a great deal of useful and constructive work for the welfare of the town can be accomplished; without such co-operation a great deal of effort on the part of a few might be wasted.

Respectfully submitted,
PETER MAWDSLEY,
Secretary-Treasurer.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXXVII—NEBRASKA

THE Indian name for the Platte river was Nebraska, meaning "shallow water," and from this came the name of the state. A nickname for the state is the Blackwater State.

Of the early Spanish explorations little is known, except that Coronado probably reached the great plain of this region in 1541. More than one hundred and twenty-five years later Father Marquette noted the Platte river on his trip up the Missouri. In the beginning of the Nineteenth century the Lewis and Clark expedition skirted the boundaries of the present state and in 1805, Manuel Lisa established the first known settlement which was a fur trading post at Bellevue. This was just after the Louisiana Purchase had brought Nebraska into United States territory.

Omaha was established as a post of the American Fur company in 1825 and Nebraska City the following year.

With the California gold rush in 1849 many pioneers passed through Nebraska and some stopped and settled there although there was a law forbidding settlements among the Indians. The real colonization boom, however, started with the passing of the Kansas-Nebraska act in 1854, which arranged that these two sections should become free or slave states at the dictate of their inhabitants. The Nebraska territory was then organized and reached from the fortieth to the forty-ninth parallel. In 1861, the region north of 43 was made into Dakota territory. The Idaho territory was also created, which reduced Nebraska to its present size of 77,520 square miles, except for a slight addition in the Northwest which was made in 1882.

In 1867 Nebraska was admitted as the 37th state over the president's veto. It has eight presidential electors.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Looking Ahead

LAST Spring a total of 350,000 people were disappointed in not being able to obtain deliveries of Ford Cars and Trucks, as orders were placed faster than cars could be produced.

The demand for Ford Cars and Trucks this Spring will, according to all indications, be far greater than last Spring.

Winter buying has been increasing at a greater rate than ever

Actual retail deliveries the past 60 days totaled 308,170 Ford Cars and Trucks, an increase of 1,961 a day over a year ago.

Over 200,000 people have already ordered Ford products on our purchase plan, the majority of whom will take delivery in the Spring.

The above facts are given with the suggestion that you list your order promptly with a Ford dealer if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer and wish to avoid delay in delivery.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

You need not pay cash for your car. You can arrange to make a small deposit down, taking care of the balance in easy payments. Or, you can buy on the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan. This puts you on the preferred order list and insures delivery of your car at a time to be determined by yourself.

The McColloms have returned from southern California, where they spent the holiday season.

* * *

Miss Louise Conger will sail for China on February 21. She will be away about six months.

* * *

The Yates are now occupying the "Bungalette" on Casanova street, having rented their own cottage.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. G. Ross McKee will sail shortly for the Orient, stopping over in Honolulu for a brief visit.

* * *

George Eustace of the business department of the Curtis Publishing Co in Philadelphia was here last week.

* * *

Prior to his departure for France and England to make a study of the modern drama, Paul Stevenson is here from [illegible]

* * *

The next dramatic offering in Carmel will be the two plays to be given at the new Arts and Crafts Theater on Friday and Saturday, February 22 and 23.

* * *

Rev. Edward Lamb Parson, Coadjutor Bishop of the Diocese of California, whose home is in Berkeley, is here with his wife and daughter. They are registered at La Playa.

* * *

The [illegible] west is still strong, and the leading magazines look to Fred R. Bechdolt to supply the demand. In a recent number of the Popular, Bech has a tale entitled "The Trail of the Cross-Gaited Horse."

* * *

The Lachmund brothers have concluded their vacation here. Harry has returned to San Francisco and his government job. Otto is on his way to Duluth, Minn., where he has a responsible position with a bonding concern.

* * *

Charles King Van Riper and wife are again in Carmel. Since leaving here they have been half way around the world, touching at many of the South Sea islands, Australia, Japan, back to San Francisco, thence to New York, and then to Carmel—some trip.

* * *

C. L. Day, formerly of the San Luis Obispo Telegram, and W. I. Alten of Long Beach were here this week. They declare that they have never seen more beautiful scenery than along the Monterey and Carmel coast. "It is far superior to anything in southern California."

Send a weekly news letter to the folks back home. The Pine Cone fills the order at $2.00 a year.

Louis Honig, San Francisco advertising man, with his wife and son, were Pine Inn week-enders. They got quite a thrill out of "Wild Oats."

* * *

Mrs. Daisy Bostick left on Thursday for a visit of several days in San Jose, Oakland and San Francisco. In San Francisco she will see "Anna Christie."

* * *

From Petaluma comes the news of the arrival of a son in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet D. Donohoe. Mrs. Donohoe was formerly Miss Doris Rockwell.

* * *

Walter R. Morse of Milton, Mass., who has spent many winters here with his family, has been very ill, recently undergoing a serious operation. They will not make the trip this year.

* * *

Miss Grace Morris, erstwhile Carmel representative of the [illegible] is leaving shortly for New York, it is reported. Mrs. Hilda Argo is now chasing up the news for the Herald.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. McCoy and Mrs. McCoy's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Oard and small son of Stockton, were week-end visitors here. The McCoys recently built a summer home on Monte Verde street.

* * *

Miss Irene Alexander was down from [illegible] to attend the production of Perry Newberry's "Wild Oats." Miss Alexnader, in charge of dramatics in the San Jose high school, is shortly putting on Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn."

* * *

Tilly Polak left on Tuesday last for her second invasion of the objects d'art centers of Europe. Before her return in May she will have been in Holland, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and Italy.

* * *

After last Saturday night's show Mr. and Mrs. John B. Jordan tendered an informal reception to Perry Newberry and his cast. An item worth mentioning is the fact that "Wild Oats" was put on at less expense than any previous show.

Constance Bruhl, teacher of piano, is opening a studio here in an apartment over Goldstine's shop. She will be in Carmel every Saturday for a limited number of pupils in addition to those she already has here. Arrangements may be made by phoning 870. Advt.

Stein Bloch Smart Clothes
Greatcoats and Great Coats
Any artisan can produce a Greatcoat, so-called; but it takes an artist to create a great coat. Hand Tailoring gives our fleecy ulsters the true London swank and makes them feel light and soft as a glove, instead of harsh and heavy.

RAT-SNAP
KILLS RATS
Better Than Traps For Rats
Writes Adams Drug Co., Texas
They say: "RAT-SNAP is doing the work and the rat undertakers are as busy as pop corn on a hot stove." Try it on your rats. RAT-SNAP is a "money back" guaranteed sure killer. Comes ready for use; no mixing with other foods. Cats and dogs won't touch it. Rats dry up and leave no smell. Three sizes: 35c for one room; 65c for house or chicken yard; $1.25 for barns and outbuildings. Start killing rats today.
